COACH REGINALD ROOT

Reginald Root, Yale varsity tackle in 1926 and All-American player by vote of the nation's critics, has enjoyed singular success as coach for the team of the National University of Mexico. Starting last season with material which was not only green as to play, but had not even seen a football game played. This herculean task has been well accomplished by this versatile player, mentor and director, as can be well seen this afternoon. He is a splendid fellow, likeable, smiling always, and is one of the princes of the athletic world.

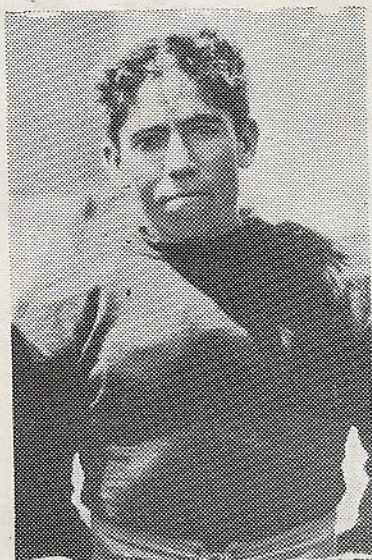

STANLEY L. ROBINSON
Choctaw Coach

Stanley Robinson, hero-coach of the Mississippi College team, has scored repeatedly as a hard but fair fighter and resourceful general.

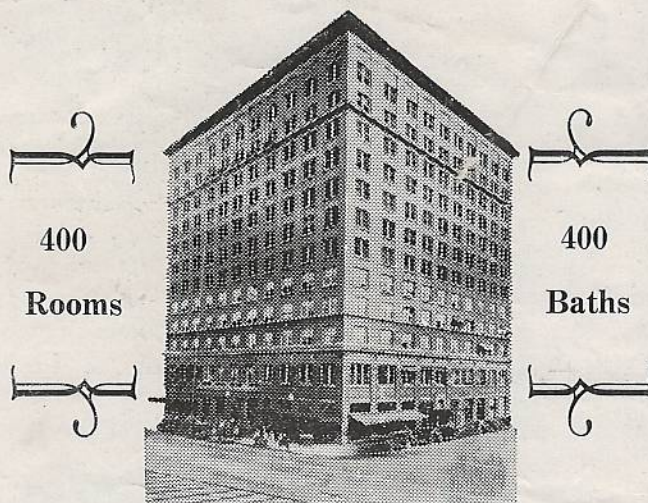

Mississippi College teams under his direction have prospered and won, not all the time, but with a consistency that is remarkable. Under his tutelage some splendid athletes have been developed on Provine Field, and there are several members of the present football squad who merit the appellation of stars.

Robinson was a great player, making the All-American football team as a member of the Colgate University eleven.

Mississippi College votes him an All-American Coach.
